

ABSTRACT

A motor vehicle front suspension arm including three bores corresponding respectively to an articulation of the arm to a wheel support, to a front articulation, and a rear articulation of a hinge formed between the arm and the vehicle body. The suspension arm includes a single-piece sheet metal part and the bores corresponding to the articulations of the hinge have substantially perpendicular axes.